Thine is a voice of melody, And off I love to dwell Upon its silvery cadences, Which blind me like a spell.

Recold thy songs have cheered my heart, When by dark cares oppressed, And make the waves of serrow oft Sink to a peaceful rest. And off when far away from thee. Prehoard thy geatle strain, Resilled by busy memory, Steal o'er my heart again. And with thy song, thy sad, sweet face Would ever present seem;

And ne'er did fancy paint Forme a brighter dream. The songs I ne'er shall esase to love --To them Ull fondly cling;

Tis sweeter to remember them, Than hear all others sing. Of thine own self they seem a part, And while I live shall be

A holy spell within my heart,

To bind it unto thee:

TEMPERANCE CONVENTION-RESOLUTIONS.

The Standing Committee beg leave to report the following preamble and resolutions, and the same is respectfully submitted to the Convention. J. T. SWAYNE, China. JNO. FRIZZELL, Sec'y.

The undersigned of the Committee respectfully dissenting JNO. FRIEZELL. therafrom: JAMES GOODNER, THOS. NORMAN.

WHEREAS. The existing and previous legislation of Tennessee, licensing and regulating the traffic in intexicating liquors, has utterly failed to remove or remedy (if it has not indeed promoted) the evils produced by such traffic; and whereas, moral influence and social organizations have been employed for a long time, and those evils still prevail to a rainous and alarming degree, affecting the happiness, peace and good order of our people, and the public health, morals and respectability of the State, bringing want, poverty and shame on families and individuals, endangering the safety and security of our sons and servants; corrupting the moral tone of community, paralizing industry, and loosing to the State annually millions of dollars:

It is, therefore, by this Convention, 1. Resolved. That in view of the enormity of the grievauces recited in the preamble, it becomes the duty, as it is the right, of the good people of the State, without distinction of party or name, to enquire diligently for some adequate remedy, if perchance those evils may be removed.

2. Resolved, That, in our opinion, all laws licensing the traffic, instead of probibiting it entirely, are insufficient, demoralizing, and fatal to the public peace, and that unrestricted trade in the articles complained of would be even more dangerous, demondizing, and fatal; that we, therefore, see no other alternative for protection and safety against them but total prohibition as a beverage for sale, with safe guards and penalties of a suitable character attached.

3. Resolved, That we regard this movement, in its caste, as eminently popular, the evils complained of being general and widespread; and that it becomes the people to take the

4. Resolved. That we hold the subject as in no wise necessarily involving party and national polities, but as rising above all ordinary political issues; that it is a matter exclusively of State policy, so often heretofore acted upon by the legislature, and legitimate and proper for the consideration propriate time to move in this work; and that we call upon all men of all orders and degrees, parties and distinctions, who feel the force of the crying evils around us, to unite and demand of their Governor, Representatives and Senators hereafter to be elected, and belonging to either and both of the political parties, to furnish the protection hereinbefore indicated in their legislative capacity.

5. Resolved, That, in view of the magnitude and importance of this subject, as a question and element of State polier merely, and not of party polities, it is secondary to no other subject, and claims the attention and consideration of the people before and above any other that is likely to enter into the coming legislative canvass,

6. Resilved, That, therefore, we recommend the propriety, in the coming or any future election in this State, of supporting the candidate for the Legislature, of either party, whose adhesion to this all important measure of humanity and protection, shall be unreservedly declared and well understood; that party polities and the promotion of politicians, ought to be, in the State elections, subordinate to this great issue, if indeed there can be any reasonable apprehension that it will affect one party more than the other; that, as touching said issue, in said elections, we will know neither party; and, if neither party, in any of the several counties or districts, shall nominate a cand date or candidates who shall duty to bring out and support others who may be thus friend-

7. Resolved. That we regard the constitutionality of legislative prohibition in the premises as settled beyond controversy, and expressly so by the Supreme Courts of Maine and the United States, in words and substance as follows: bag the game. "It is competent for the State, by Legislative enactment, operating prospectively, to determine that articles, injurious to the public health or morals, shall not constitute property." Preston ve. Dress 32 Maine Reports.

"If it should so conclude in relation to spirituous or intoxicating dranks, when designed to be used as a beverage-the conclusion would be justified by the experience and history of man, and would afford no occasion to complain that any provision of the constitution had been violated."-I bid. "Every State may regulate its own internal traffic in spirituous liquors according to its own judgment and upon its own views of the interests of its citizens."—Chief Justice Tuncy, 5 Howard's Keports 574.

"The acknowledged police power of a State extends often to the destruction of property. A nuisance may be abated. Everything prejudicial to the health or morals of a city may be removed."—Justice McLean, 5 Howard 589. "Quarantine laws (instanced as an example in point) which protect the public health, compel mere commercial regulations to submit to their control. They seize the infected cargo and throw it overboard." -Justice Grier, 5 Howard

"After articles have come within the territorial limits of States, whether on land or water, the destruction itself of what contains disease and death, and the longer continuance of such articles within their limits, or the terms or conditions of the continuance, when conflicting with their legitimate police, seems one of the first principles of State sovereignty and indispensable to the public safety."-Justice

8. Resolved, That, in the several decisions against the acts of some of the States, on this subject, we no where find the cal operation of said principle, which is right in theory, as we believe has proved a triumph, having failed no where; that this triumph justifies the renewed energy and efforts of its friends; that we regard the law of the State of Maine, embodying this principle, and its operation as mainly satisfactory and worthy of imitation; and that it is our opinion that our fellow citizens throughout the State, when they shall have examined the merits of this subject and become disabused of the erroneous and false impressions made upon grog-shop interest at home and abroad, in regard to this measure and its operation elsewhere, will sustain and forward the movement now making in this State also by a large majority and with great unanimity.

9. Resolved, That, in proof of our faith in this matter, we will do all in our power, consistently with our duties and occupations, to advance this great and all-essential movement. The last resolution of the above series having been adopted, John Frizzell offered the following additional resolution, which was adopted, after which Dr. Norman and James port, withdrew their names from the minority, and the report was adopted as a whole, without a division. Resolved. That it is the opinion of this Convention that, should the Maine Law, or a law similar in principle, pass the Legislature of Tennessee, before it becomes a law, it should be submitted to the people of the State to endorse or reject it in their primitive capacity at the ballot box.

NASHVILLE, TENN. SATURDAY MORNING, FEBRUARY 26.

THE LATE TEMPERANCE CONVENTION.

We publish elsewhere, in our paper of to-day, the preamble and resolutions of this body. They will be found to assert in substance the propriety of passing a law similar to the "Maine Liquor Law." with the qualification of submitting it to the people before it goes into operation. This qualification redeems their action from much censure; for if the people of the State want a "Maine Liquor Law," or any other law, not in conflict with the constitution of the United States, or the State, we say, let them have it by all means. We, therefore, think their action in this respect unexceptionable. Instead of arrogantly assuming, as did the Raleigh meeting, to force Maine Liquor Lawism upon the people, whether they desired it or not, and bullying timid candidates into their views by the threat of third candidates, we are gratified that the State Convention | acted more sensibly, and left it to the people. The introduction of this new feature into the legislation of Tennessee, involves in it so many interests, prejudices, and feelings, that the people, and the people alone should determine it. No honest and republican advocate of the "Maine Liquor Law" can ask that it be made a law in this free country, against popular wish. No opponent of it, who respects the cardinal principles of our government, would wish it defeated, if the people desired it. While, however, we approve of this modification of the Raleigh meeting position, these resolutions embrace another principle against which we positively protest. That principle is, they will not vote for any candidate who is not pledged to a law of this character. We regard this announcement as particularly unfortunate, calculated to exasperate party feelings against the proposed movement, and end disastrously for its friends. Contemplated lezislation to be consummated must go with both parties, and not array itself by "one idea" tests, against either or both. The friends of the "Maine Liquor Law," should have learned wisdom from the course pursued so successfully by the advocates of internal mprovement, election of judges by the people, and the free banking system. All of these things, when first started, were not a whit more popular than Maine Liquor Lawism, yet each of them have been put in the statute book and now constitute the law of Tennessee. The advocates of them were not stupid enough to make them tests, but pressed their justice without reference to parties. The consequence was that both parties were disposed to do justice to demands which injured neither, and benefited neither. We hope that temperance men generally, we mean the honest and unambitious portion of them who have no disposition to figure in conventions, make speeches, or make money by their zeal, will disregard this factional and disorganizing and arrogant principle, and leave the success of their efforts in behalf of humanity to the impartial consideration of the Legislature upon its own merits. The pursuance of this liberal course may secure what they honestly ask, while the adoption of a contrary | he said: principle and action based thereon, will only lead to the formation of a third party, the exasperation of the people in view of future legislation; that now is an apvery measure they are so solicitous to pass. There are in our State thousands of men in the Temperance movement itself, who will not abandon party at the bidding of any convention.

A SQUALL-YOUNG WHIGS.

We see from the Clarksville Chronicke that the whigs of the district, outside of Nashville, acquiesce in the selection of the candidate for Congress from Davidson county, but claim the selection of the floater for the country counties. The Chronicle intimates that the candidacy of a floater from Davidson, would lead to party dissensions. This is rather hard upon our fellow-citizen, Herman Cox, Esq., who it is understood desires the floating representation. The fact is, that the young whigs of Nashville might as well make up their minds to do the work, but leave the wearing of the honors to older heads. When electors and sub-electors are wanted-when the hard work is to be done-the young whigs will get the places. But when floaters, members of the befound friendly to this measure, it will then become our | Legislature, seats in Congress, and similar honors are to be distributed, they will be pushed aside, unless we are mistaken, with the politest bow imaginable. Mark this prediction. The young whigs may run down the enemy, but the "old fogies" will > 137 Are the whig papers absolutely afraid to touch Gentry? The situation of our whig cotemporaries is one well calculated to excite the sympathies of all feeling persons. Charges affecting the character of a leading whig Senator, and one whom they profess to admire, are published to the State and the nation, and from some cause they refuse to defend, palliate or deny. Not only this, but in these exposures are also involved the "confidential friends" of Gov Jones, who may be for all the public knows our cotemporaries themselves. We call attention to the article from the St. Louis Union with reference to the Chicago bank .-It develops a new feature in the science of financiering and humbug. He was acthem by the unadvised, by partisans, and also upon them by Nick Biddle and Mississippi shinplasters. He is at | cordingly told by Mr. Eddy that he must leave the least twenty years behind the age.

> DREADFUL ACCIDENT AT CONSTANTINOPLE.-A dreadful accident occurred on the 4th. A sloop was conveying forty soldiers of the guard to a steam frigate about to leave for Dalmatia, and it was driven by the violence of the current against a vessel anchored near the Seraglio. The shock was so violent that all the men were thrown into the water, and they, being incumbered with their arms and baggage, were all drowned, with the exception of four or five, who were picked up by the boats of the English, Russian and French men-of-war.

FROM THE ST. LOUIS UNION. ] HISTORY OF THE BANK OF CHICAGO.

Explosion of a Humbuo, -The occurrence of several transactions which have taken place at Chica-, within the past few weeks, clearly prove that recent severity of the weather was not effectual in killing off all the fools. A fellow, in whom it is difficult to say whether knavery or folly predominated, was at the head of the Spirit Rapping business in that city, his banking operations were based solely on the "knockings," and he endeavored to foist his currency on the people, as the circulating medium of the place. His name is Paine, and his institution was styled the "Bank of Chicago," The people generally at first were rather shy of his issues, but he soon inspired some degree of "generous confidence," by publishing the Christian Banner, in the columns of which he called upon the elect to discard all carnal things, and find relief in his shinplasters. His appeals to the religious feelings of his dupes were quite successful, and we are informed that he soon got into circulation nearly one thousand dollars of his evidences of indebtedness. Some of his editorials were perfect gens in their way, and withal contained many truths. For instance,

"In ancient times, Mercury was the god of merchants and bankers, and, by a curious coincidence. of gamblers and thieves. And every year there was a solemn procession to his temple. to make sacrifices, and receive forgivenese for the fraud and robbery committed during the year. And, strange to say, the same connection exists between the bankers and their old partners, to the present day, only now they omit the yearly atonement."

But he himself was to be the fore runner of a new dispensation that was to eradicate all the evils of the monetary system; so that, in future, financial operations were to be conducted on Christain prinples. It was therefore declared that-

"Just as sure as God reigns, the bills of the bank of Chicago will be looked upon as the safest in the west; and soon the people shall know that there is not only a difference in name, but a living, real, vital difference between the Bank of Chicago and the Chicago Bank. They shall also know that there is a difference between Seth Paine & Co., or Paine, Brothers & Co., and I. H. Burch & Co. Circulate our paper and aid the cause of truth.'

In order to propitiate the favor of all the strongminded and fully-frigged out Blocmers of the day, a "sister" was taken into the concern, and was duly installed as cashier. The people, however, at length become offensively suspicious of the integrity of their Christian bankers, and means were procured to have them indicted. The "saints" then became indignant, and fulminated after the following fash-

The indicters of Moses perished in the Red sea. The indicters of Sampson brought ruin on their own pates. The indicter of Daniel was reduced to the level of the beasts. The indictor of Cromwell lost his own head. The indicter of Luther is yet trembling on all her seven-fold hills, and Austria is quailing, too, in horror of the day of wrath. And let them indict us. The opposers of the people's cause, truth's cause, and God's cause, can no more escape the coming retribution than the monopolists of old, when God let loose his avenging thunder bolts, and there was not a house in which there was not one dead."

FROM THE CHICAGO JOURNAL. A CURIOUS CASE—THE END OF A DELUSION.—The operations of the Bank of Chicago, which its proprietors have conducted in this city for some time past, affecting to have communications in regard to it from spirits of the departed, were summarily closed vesterday by the interposition of the law.

A Commission of lunacy having been issued and conservator appointed in the case of its president, Mr. Eddy, the mediums took the matter in charge, and avowed that the "Spirits" counselled resistance county meeting was held in this place, "Why it | even unto death, and for that purpose arms were

During the forenoon, several persons having business at the bank were somewhat roughly handled and put out by force. Mr. D. C. Eddy, the conservator, learning of these facts, entered a complaint before Judge Rucker, and John Drysdell, Charles Herrick, Ambrose Smith, Joseph M. Arnold, Henry Pilgrim, Mrs. Herrick and Mrs. Ryerson were arrested on charge of conspiracy, threatening to take life, and for an assault and battery.

Grant Goodrich, Esq., conducted the prosecution. The prisoners being asked if they had counsel, Drysdell replied, "yes." The court inquired who, to which he replied, "God."

A meeting of the mediums was held at the Bank on Tuesday evening, and communications were held with Alexander Hamilton, George Washington, and other deceased personages, who unanimously declared that Holmes was a traitor to the institu-

After the testimony was gone through with, Mr. Goodrich commenced summing up, during which Mrs. Herrick assumed to have a "communication." The rules of court not being proof against woman's tongue, she was committed for contempt, and lodged in jail. She will have her examination this moraing. From the evidence adduced, it would appear that Mrs. Herrick was the great High Priestess of this delusion and folly. Ambrose Smith and wife and Mrs. Ryerson were discharged; Messrs. Arnold, Pilgrim, and Drysdell were bound over in the sum of $600 each.

The Washington correspondent of the Journal of Commerce writes:

Mr. Guthrie, of Kentucky, an able lawver, is again talked of as the Secretary of the Interior. It is recommended and urged by General Wm. O Butler. I learn, to-day that Mr. Guthrie is certainly to be here in a few days, and that would seem to confirm the impression he is to be of the Cabinet. Judge Cushing, it is said, has given directions for obtaining a house for him in the city-which would show that he is to be here. The health of the Vice President elect is so far recovered that he will probably be here to occupy his own house, instead of giving it up, for sometime, as was supposed, to Gen. Pierce.

Ginghams are brisk at 10 to for Manchesters, and 11c, for Lancasters and Glasgows. Delaines are in active demand, mostly for Bareges, of which one large lot was sold at a shade under market prices. The general market is, however, very firm, There is more inquiry for Cloths, both blacks and colored, but the limited supply limits transactions, buyers resorting to foreign Goods in place. Cassimeres are active, mostly at about 9c, for Fancies. Plain styles are firm and regular. Satinets are in reduced stock. The demand is good and prices firm. There is a marked increase in the demand for French goods, especially in dress descriptions, which recently have been backward. Fine Bareges, Jaconets, Silks and fancy Prints sought for with considerable avidity. Ribbons also show increasing sales. There is more doing in French as well as in Belgian and German Cloths, both colored and plain blacks. Prices are very firm and favorite styles are buoyant. Though the goods imported are to a large amount, large quantities are yet waiting at Havre for opportunity of shipment. Some jobbing houses here, however, report that all their orders have been filled, and that they have received them earlier than usual. British goods are active, and importations are said to pay well this year, especially Cloths. Dress goods, however, have been sold more freely than usual, and are in good request, notwithstanding the increasing consumption of Domestics. The jobbers all report themselves busy as bees, and are in a high-state of hilarity from the readiness with which their accounts are paid, as well as from the readiness with which goods are selling, and good prices are paying. Stocks are low in the interior, and country dealers only proportion their purchases to their wants for short periods .-Credit is good and cash sales are more frequent.-New York Tribune.

The calorie ship. Eriesson is to leave her dock at Williamsburg at a very early hour this morning for Norfolk, whither she has been requested to repair by the Secretary of the Navy and the Chairman of the Committee in the House on Naval affairs. We understand that an offer has been made to the government on behalf of her owners to construct two more vessels of the largest class for government service, at the minimum rate of expense for steamers of the same class, to warrant their making ten miles per hour with a consumption of not over eight tons of coal per day, guaranteeing that all their machinery shall last four years—as long as the boilers of a steamship-and offering bonds in any required amount for the fulfilment of the contract in all its parts. The proposition has been very favorably received by the President and the Secretary of the Navy, and it is for the purpose of giving them an opportunity for personal inspection, that the ship has been summoned to Norfolk. She will go thither direct, and probably thence to Washington. We understand that, besides Capt. Eriesson and the officers and the crew, Commodore Sands is the only person who goes with her.

NASSIVILLE AND NEW ORLEANS RAILEOAD. - All the incipient steps have been taken to secure the rapid progress of this magnificent enterprise. Most of the route from New Orleans to the Tennessee river has already been located, and a considerable portion of it placed under contract. That portion from the southern terminus to the Mississippi State line, it is designed to have completed during the approaching summer. The whole line has been found to be far more favorable for building a good road than was anticipated. The magnitude of the work is scarcely equalled to any now in progress in the Union. It will be over 600 miles in length, and will cost at least $10,000,000. About $3,500,000 are now available for the company's use, independent of large subscriptions in several counties in Massissippi through which the road will pass. This amount will be sufficient to complete such a portion of the road as will enable the company to sell their bonds to aid in building the remainder of the great work. Mr. Robb, the eminent New Orleans banker, is President of this road, and his characteristic energy and financial ability will be brought to bear furthering the interests and success of the company. The citizens of New Orleans who have hitherto occupied the back-ground in reference to internal improvements, are now rousing from their stupor, and are fully convinced of the fact that if they would retain the commercial supremacy of the Mississippi valley, they must do as other citizens are doing; that is, build a system of railroads which will connect them with every section now tributary to them .- Chattanooga Advertiser.

Strikes seem be the order of the day. Fol lowing the example of older heads, and perhaps emboldened by the recent success of the operatives on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, the fly-boys at the Union office marched out this morning and demanded an increase of compensation. Gen. Armstrong surrendered at once, as indeed he would have done before the battle, had he known any such thing was in contemplation. As it was, the dozen presses engaged on Congress work were all stopped, and thus the public business is impeded. The General, however, soon got under way again, and the energy he has displayed in executing his duties as public printer will soon enable him to catch up with the orders of Congress.
